Compared to last week's market, feeder steers and heifers weight price averages ended fully $5 to $8 weaker. Slaughter cows and bulls finished around $4 lower.

Although still strong, the feeder demand is experiencing pressure from higher oil prices along with the ever expanding U S drought areas. Inflation is currently the highest since 1982 and Soviet aggression in Eastern Europe continues to stagger the world financial markets. A bullish market is still predicted this year by most livestock analysts but there is always some negatives.
